LVI was contracted by Swinerton Builders to apply spray-on fireproofing to the structural frame of Jackson Rancheria's 257,789 SF casino, 146-room hotel and garage as part of overall remodeling efforts.

Swinerton's work included complete restoration of the existing rooms, total make-over of the kitchen and upgraded finishes throughout the resort. Owners Jackson Rancheria Band of Miwok Indians, a federally recognized tribe, hired architecture firm Delawie Wilkes Rodrigues Barker to lead design.

Work was completed on time, within budget, and without any safety violations.
